

Will Gets Stuck Into Mudville

When it comes to drawing parallels, Mudville sure know how to blur the lines: think Curtis Mayfield's weighty grooves and P.J. Harvey's avant-blues passion. Unsigned, and outta NYC, singer Marilyn Carino and producer-bassist Ben Rubin have been working with Will and the Analysis Lost team on a their forthcoming fully fledged release, due date fall 2006. The music harks back to the glories of the past, but Mudville's message is conveyed by way of cutting-edge, modern day lyrics and production. The tension between old and new is what makes the Mudville sound so appealing - a fact not lost on the film and television industries, with the Canadian Gemini award winning RegenesiTV show recently making prime time use of the outstanding picks from their debut album 'The Glory of Man is not in Vogue', 'Blown' & 'The Hero of the World', to critical acclaim.

To get stuck into Mudville, you can download TheHeroOfTheWorld 2.07 Mb for free. You can also take a peek at a short video promo. mudville_promo 6.51 Mb
For more info: mudville_press_release 182.97 Kb